POLIO TOLL HERE 43 AS 2 MORE DIE

130 in S. F. Hospitals; Three Additional Lungs Flown in by Guard

Sioux Falls' polio patient count remained at the previous peak figure of 130 today, but the number of deaths had increased to 43, with 20 of the latter number Sioux Falls residents.

Latest deaths were:

■ Donald Anderson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson, Alcester, admitted Sunday, died Thursday.

■ Mary Jane Nelsen, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelsen, Centerville, admitted in critical condition Thursday, died Thursday.

Number of polio patients in the two Sioux Falls hospitals hit a peak of 130 Thursday, but the two deaths and dismissals reduced the number to 130 this morning.

Three more iron lungs were flown to Sioux Falls from Denver by the 175th fighter squadron, air national guard, Thursday night. The crew of the C-47 transport, which left here at 4:30 p. m. after receiving the respirators, was made up of Capt. Fred A. Brems, Lt. Lowell Van Gerpin and S/Sgt. Lowell Kiehl.

Mechanical difficulties at Denver delayed the plane slightly. It landed here with the respirators at 1:15 a. m. today.

This makes a total of eight lungs which have been flown in here by the air guard. One was flown in from Rapid City. Two others were flown to Omaha on a previous mercy flight and transferred here by plane.

Sioux Valley hospital is now using 12 iron lungs. Maximum is 14. Two more iron lungs from Omaha are available for both places.

Sioux Valley hospital was treating 59 polio patients today. That hospital had three admissions and three dismissals Thursday.

McKennan hospital was treating 46 polio patients today. That hospital had one admission and three dismissals Thursday.

Ole Returned to Augustana

A six-foot statue of a Viking is returned to its Augustana college stadia from a state college campus at Brookings. Carrying the 350-pound statue are from left to right, Fred Lutz, Augustana student and brother of the sculptor; Wallace Estegeon, Augustana college business manager; and Forest Melick, Brookings. Melick, a State college employe, returned Ole Viking late yesterday.

Hugo Lutz, Cary, Ind., junior student at Augustana college didn't relish the idea of State college students exhibiting his sculptural work in the Hobo Day parade at Brookings October 23. Lutz said he had spent 200 hours and about $75 for clay on Ole. It is part of his classwork. He is shown with a model and a Viking head, which he did before starting on the larger work.

Clay Viking Spared Exhibition at State College Homecoming

By ANSON YEAGER
Argus-Leader Staff Writer

Ole the Viking is back in the sculptor's studio at Augustana college.

And gleeful State college men or women will not exhibit the Norseman from a Hobo Day float at Brookings come October 23, after all.

The clay giant was taken from the basement of Ladies' hall at Augustana college Saturday night.

In the process some visiting State men splashed paint on the Augustana campus in anticipation of the football clash between the two colleges Hobo Day.

High Level Talks

The collegiate snatch was discovered Monday. There were telephone calls between the colleges that (not student) level Tuesday.

Tom Kilian, Augustana college student president, received the "ransom" note Wednesday. It read:

"We wish to inform you that Ole has been kidnaped. He seems to enjoy his new residence here at State college and informs us that he would like to remain here till after the Hobo Day festivities. He also informs us that he thinks that he would not like to maintain his permanent residence here and was wondering if some kind Norseman would offer him a ride home after Hobo Day.

"His one stipulation, however, was that his sculptor would be present on Hobo Day in mourning attire, to ride on the float with him on the Hobo Day parade.

"Publish reply in the Augustana schoolpaper . . . yours truly,

"A Friendly Man."

'After His Clay Man'

Augustanans Carmi Odegaard, Volga, and Arlyn Roe, Canton, accompanied Lutz to the Brookings campus Wednesday afternoon to serve as guards.

"If I get Ole back right away, I'll forget about it," Lutz said in a rendezvous in a classroom building hall.

"But the parade on Hobo Day . . ."

"Nix on the Hobo Day stuff," ended the 20-minute conversation with the promise that Ole would be returned to Augustana.

Forest Melick, Brookings, State college employe who returned Ole here late yesterday, said the statue was found in a truck on the campus. The truck had been used hauling for a short time.

Ole's right elbow was cracked and his helmet was pushed back on his forehead. His sword was loose, but otherwise, the man of clay was okay.

Melick told Augustanans that the students who had spirited Ole away would have to pay for his return trip and the use of the college truck.

Only solace to the Brookings students who had spirited Ole away hiding place was not revealed.

A State college sequel was sending off a deluge of Augustana paint (quick drying lacquer) smeared on the Brookings campus Wednesday night.

The buildings vandalized were the library, Union, building, and women's dormitory.

Ole has started to finish his Viking.

WOMAN CRIES ON SHOULDER OF HUSBAND

Jurors in Murder Trial Return Verdict at 2 P. M. Today

By RALPH GREEN
Argus-Leader Staff Writer

Mrs. Shirley Hiscox, 35, was found not guilty today of murdering a newborn male child. Circuit court jurors returned their verdict at 2 p. m.

For the first time in the proceedings against her Mrs. Hiscox broke down when the jurors' decision was announced, crying on her husband's shoulder.

Following closing arguments by attorneys, the jury which since Tuesday afternoon had been hearing testimony retired soon after noon today to arrive at a verdict.

For the state, State's Attorney Jerry Maher and his assistant Thomas J. Barron, made arguments to the jury. Defense attorneys for the junior were Isaac Bearden and Gene E. Pruitt is special prosecutor and T. G. Owen is associated with the Danforths.

Jury Instructed

As court opened this morning, Presiding Judge George A. Rice instructed the jury that Mrs. Hiscox must be presumed innocent until proven otherwise, that she need not testify by law, that connected facts and circumstances must be circumstantial and that the defendant should not be convicted unless evidence showed the child had a separate existence apart from the mother and that it was killed by strangulation. Motive or lack of motive could also be taken into account, Rice said.

Rice explained that one of two forms of verdict should be forthcoming, guilty or not guilty. If the first had been returned, a supplemental verdict would have been necessary which would have recommended death or life imprisonment.

Maher announced at 1:40 p. m. yesterday that the state had rested its case against Mrs. Hiscox and Bearden moved for a directed verdict of acquittal for the defense, moving for a verdict for his client. Rice denied the motion, meanwhile while observing that it had merit.

Danforth based his motion on allegations which included that evidence did not show Mrs. Hiscox was connected with the child's death, that she had nothing to do with placing blanks about the infant's head, that there was no strangulation and that bronchial pneumonia was present.

Before resting, the state recalled Mrs. Hiscox's parents and Mrs. Ethel Yelish, both of whom testified yesterday, and Coroner Raymond C. Clay Fulkerson, Charles F. Larson; Daniel Hiscox, the defendant's step-son; Athena Sharts, South Bally ave., and Detective Edward G. Lestrud.

Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Yolach and Larson testified that they smelled a disagreeable odor in the vicinity of the Hiscox home the night of July 21. Larson said it resembled the smell of burning flesh, basing this statement on experiences overseas. This testimony was ordered stricken by Rice who directed the jury to disregard it when Danforth objected.

Young Hiscox, a high school senior here, said his mother was slightly ill either July 20 or 30. Questioned by Bearden he said she was not too ill to prepare meals. Mike Sharts, a waitress, testified the defendant appeared thinner August 2 than she did before. Latrufa testimony was along the same line. Mrs. Hiscox had weighed 140 pounds, weight and pale after August 1.

The defense summoned two physicians, Carl—Dr. O. Charles Erickson and Russell Openfield—

Flying Disc Mystery Solved?

Could Be Parachuting Spiders

San Francisco, Oct. 8—(AP)—No, ma'am. Those weren't men in parachutes you saw drifting down during the thundering surf north of the Golden Gate. They weren't flying discs, either. Take the word of the U. S. air forces and assorted professors—they were spiders.

Parachuting spiders, that is.

They created quite a stir yesterday, at that. Mrs. Wilma E. Huff of Stinson Beach phoned the air force that she had seen men and air force search planes and a helicopter were rushed into action to seek the "parachutes" she reported.

The coast guard sent three more planes and a cutter. Civilian and service authorities formed ground parties.

The coast searcher came up with the answer. He found the filmy, wind-borne web of what he called "a parachute spider." And maybe all America's reports of flying discs were just spiders, he said.
